James Padgett, jr. will raffle his black colt on the Fourth of July. The tickets, which are selling at a dollar each, are going rapidly. The colt is a beautiful animal and a fav-orite with all. The lucky winner will have something to be proud of.

Will M. Miller has a new steel gas-oline launch, delivered last week, which he will use for fishing pur-poses and other pleasure trips. The launch is light, has air tight com-partments, and is of beautiful model and swift.

L. Eaton returns tomorrow from DeLand where he has finished his building contract. Mr. Eaton was strongly urged to make DeLand his home, and where he was promised plenty of business, but he preferred Crescent City.

Miss May Burton who has spent several months here the guest of her cousin, Miss Jessie Burton, left last week for her home in Pasco county Miss Burton made many warm friends among the young people dur-ing her stay here, and all are regret-ing her departure.

Mr. Darby, the merchant, states that Rev. Mr. Geiger, secretary of the State Baptist association and one of the most eloquent preachers of the state, will soon visit Crescent City and will preach here, provided arrangements can be made for a hall. This arrangement can be easily made.

The fried chicken crop here this summer is small and this toothsome article of diet will be a luxury. The Preston-Miller company is doing a specially large business in its cypress tank department just now, some 25 orders being booked ahead, one of which is a 50,000 gallon tank for the Florida East Coast Railway. The company's pail and tub department is also rushed with big orders and a large force of men are employed at the factory. Two or three more factories of this size would be a big thing for the town.

The outlook is flattering for high prices the coming winter owing to a scarcity of fruit in south Florida and other parts of the state.

Mrs. J. L. Mauli and W. B. Mauli left for New York this week, to be gone the large part of the summer Mrs. Mauli has been in quite poor health the past several weeks and looks forward to receiving great ben-efit from the trip.

-Youth's Companion The Great White Shark. The man eating fish par excellence is the great white shark. It is otherwise known by the name of man eater. Occasionally specimens are seen on both coasts of the United States, though its more customary habitat is in tropical waters. This frightful creature attains a length of nearly forty feet, and it is able to swallow a man whole. This fact is proved by an experiment which sailors are fond of making when such a shark is captured. The skull being preserved, they amuse themselves by crawling one after another through the distended jaws. It would be unsafe to of a white shark.

It made the woman mad. She hastened at once to the office of the rallway's claim adjuster. She said bitterly:

"'How is this? Here you give a man $7,500 for the loss of his leg, while you only gave me $5,000 for the loss of my husband." "The claim adjuster smiled amiably and said in a soothing voice: "'Madam, the reason is quite plain. The $7,500 won't provide the poor with a new leg, whereas with your $5,000 you can easily get a new husband and perhaps a better one." "-Kansas City Star.

London Theaters Charm. One of the delicious treats London offers Americans is the acting and accessories of her theaters. The or chestra stalls or balcony stalls are very sumptuous and very roomy and are evidently created on purpose to appeal to hearty diners. The usher is a very tidy young woman in black dress and coquettish cap and apron, possessed of a sweet face and a still sweeter voice. You pay her a sixpence for each programme. The stage settings are perfect in detail. Best of all is the elecution of the players. From the rising of the curtain even unto the goword uttered is as clear and tuneful as the tinkle of a silver bell. You don't have to wait till the middle of the first act before you can even guess what the plot is about. Under these unusual circumstances the interest one takes in a play is greatly enhanced, and he wonders why an American company is
